

Managing user preferences and settings

You can manage which license servers and features are visible in web pages you view, change your username/password, and control other settings that affect only your own user. The following sections describe how to manage these preferences and settings.