Starting and stopping License Statistics on Linux

The information on this page refers to License Statistics versions prior to v6.17, which introduced new Linux installers. If you are running a previous version of License Statistics, see documentation for previous versions.

Before running License Statistics on Linux, make sure you have configured it according to your needs.

See the page relevant to your platform:

- Linux installation using DEB installer, for Debian and Ubuntu distributions
- Linux installation using RPM installer for RedHat Enterprises distributions
- Generic Linux installation for Linux distributions other than DEB or RPM, or for customized installation
