Activating your license using License Activator

In Windows, you can activate licenses using License Activator. You can access License Activator at any time by double-clicking on it, or your vendor may integrate License Activator into its application installation program.

License Activator lets you:

- Activate a license over the internet by entering the activation key your vendor provides you.
- Browse for and use an existing license file that has already been activated.
- Optionally (if provided by the vendor), run the software as a trial without requiring license activation. In this case, you will see a "Run as 30-day Trial" option when you start License Activator.

License Activator will also let you export the current computer's HostIDs to a file.

Example

The following example shows activating a license with License Activator over the internet, using an activation key provided by your vendor.

- 1. Start License Activator (for example, from the installation program, the Start menu, or other means provided by the vendor).
- 2. The Activate over the Internet option is selected by default. Copy and paste your activation key into the Activation Key field, then click Next:
