

Monitoring standalone applications with Usage Client

This page refers to functionality that has been removed from License Statistics.

This chapter describes how to use the License Statistics Usage Client, which allows you to monitor applications using standalone licenses. The Usage Client is an optional add-on that must be purchased separately from License Statistics.