

Accessing LM-X License Server Client

If you are using Windows, we recommend using a shortcut in the Windows Start menu to access LM-X License Server Client. Otherwise, go to your end-user tools directory and directly run a LicserverClient.jar file.

You can access the host of the LM-X license server on the same port as the license server, which defaults to 6200 (for example, <http://www.lmx-server-host.com:6200>).

To access LM-X License Server Client, you must have JRE installed on your machine.

Once you have accessed the application, you can start using LM-X License Server Client.
