Customizing Apache

> ⊘ This page refers to functionality that has been removed from License Statistics. Apache HTTP Server has been removed from License Statistics as of v6.0.

License Statistics includes a default configuration for Apache. However, if you need to add custom settings for your Apache configuration, you can enter the settings at the end of the "httpd-custom.conf" file, located in the License Statistics installation directory.

If you experience issues with the Apache configuration, you can revert the custom file back to the default configuration by either removing the additional settings from the end of the file or by removing the file entirely and restarting License Statistics. Upon restarting, License Statistics will regenerate the httpd-custom.conf file, which should resolve any issues caused by the custom settings.
